

COVERS FOR MARINE INDUSTRY

PROTECT FROM THE ELEMENTS

Nature – wild and untamed – assails boats and other watercraft daily, with everything it's got. Sun, wind, rain, and snow from the outside; moisture, mold and mildew on the inside. And that's just during storage. When transporting, road debris, dirt and grime will assail it for miles on end.

But keeping nature's forces at bay isn't as simple as wrapping plastic around your boat. You need to protect against every element, something everyday solutions simply can't do.

To take control and protect against the forces of nature and the open road, there's Transshield. Our advanced cover technology guards against whatever nature has to bring.

A BETTER WAY TO PROTECT

Since Transshield covers are custom designed to fit your particular boat model, they are easy to install. A team of two can cover and shrink a midsize (up to 21') boat in less than five (5) minutes. And because they are made to withstand harsh elements and endure long transportation journeys, they save you installation time and warranty claim dollars in the end. Take control and protect your boat against the forces of nature.
